

TWO ARE MADE ONE

Charles Fox and Miss Gertrude Hinsdill Are Wedded.

CEREMONY IN ST. MARK'S

Wedding Supper at Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Water's.

church, Charles E. Fox and Miss Corinne Hinsell were united in marriage by the Right Rev. George D. Quinn, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Campbell Fair. At the hour mentioned the church was filled with a brilliant assemblage of the representatives of the wealth and culture of the town. The auditorium and chancel were elegantly artistically decorated the interior resembling a fairy-land bridal garden. The sacred place was a sympathy in pink and green.

Feasting of the Gnomes.

Sections for the immediate relatives of the contracting parties and the honor

On the right were seated Mrs. Fox, mother of the groom, Colonel and Mrs. Chester B. Hinesdill, parents of the bride, Miss Butts of New York, the bride's cousin. On the left were the

The groomsmen, who officiated as ushers, were Messrs. Withey, Eldridge, Lowe, Faulkner, Blodgett, Lawrence McQuinn.

The ushers preceded and were followed by the maid of honor, Miss Waters, who was dressed in a beautiful costume of changed colors, of antique pink and green, with a shimmering bodice and a pink mouline de soie with decorative net outlined in pink roses and draped in gold lace. Over her costume she wore a rose hued tulle veil and she carried in a sweeping court train of pearl white satin. The bodice was of satin and Irish lace. Her long white tulle veil that draped the wedding gown was

When the bridal procession reached the chancel steps, the ushers formed on the right and left, and the groom and bride, who took a position to the left of the chancel, supported by the maid of honor. Bishop Gillespie and the Rev. Dr. Campbell Fair were in the chancel and the beautiful marriage ceremony and the episcopal ritual was begun. The re-was a maidenly tremble in the voice of the bride, who was given away by her father, Col. C. B. Hinsdill. At the close of the ceremony the procession reformed the bride and groom leading the way followed by Colonel Fox and Miss

The Wedding Supper.
From the church the bridal party and invited guests repaired to the palatial residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Waters.

Mrs. Wiers. The house was elaborately decorated with exotic plants and American beauty roses. The table was in the shape of a heart, and on the snowy linen were placed covers for eighteen guests. Old solid silver and new china, but their splendor was

The ones placed for Mr. and Mrs. Fox bore appropriate inscriptions. Mrs. Fox legend was:

"A guardian angel over his life presided Doubled his pleasures and his cares divided."

"She is mine own,
And I am rich in having such a jewel
As twenty seas if all the sands were mine."
The supper was in five courses. Ice cream was served in the hearts of American Beauty roses and Roman

List of the Guests.
The party at this table were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fox, Miss Waters, Mr. Withey, Miss Prunser, Miss Estelle Poman, Miss Remington, Miss Shapen.

Mr. Faulkner, Mr. Blodgett, Mr. Lawrence. The remaining guests were seated at four other tables in an adjoining room. These were Mrs. Pease and Colonel and Mrs. Chester B. Hinsdale, the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Campbell Fiske and Mrs. T. C. Fiske.

Gowns of the Ladies.
Mrs. Waters, the stately hostess, was Hindhill, black and white moire and thread lace; Mrs. Studier Waters, a imported gown of pale lichen green and with a bodice of mouline de sole drap with point de Venice lace. She wore antique necklace of emeralds and diamonds.

White moire in pink and blue. Mr. Butts, a dainty gown of blue silk with black velvet. Mrs. Fair, black and white moire silk.

Miss Withney was gowned in blue and white silk. Miss Prosser, silver brocade.

Remington wore a blue cap, M. Shepard, white shirt; Miss Hall, her white corded silk with shiffon lace dress.